
Energy flows through the drive; the position command carries information.